A Capita Conference

Tackling the Trafficking of Women and Children

Thursday 22nd April 2010 – Central London

*"Human trafficking is the third largest and fastest growing criminal activity in the world with yearly profits up to an estimated $32 billion."*¹

Capita's 9th National Tackling Trafficking Conference brings together key stakeholders to disseminate best practice in dealing with all forms of human trafficking. This conference offers a frontline perspective on progress being made in the three key areas of trafficking - prevention, prosecution and protection. Key issues addressed include:

- Updates on policies and current levels of trafficking
- Enforcement and prosecution
- Best practice in detecting and rescuing victims
- Victim support
- Child trafficking
- Potential risks with the 2010 Olympics

Women and children constitute 80% of all victims of this common and horrifying crime. A lack of awareness and understanding of the problem is still one of the biggest challenges facing organisations today.

This timely event will give delegates the opportunity to examine how organisations can work together to raise awareness and prevent trafficking in the UK. Attend to stay up to date with new strategies for eliminating this relentless crime which continues to plague communities.
