Improving Mental Health Services in the Criminal Justice System
Monday 29th April 2013 – Central London

About the Event
Capita’s National Improving Mental Health Services in the Criminal Justice System Conference provides you with essential policy updates, revised commissioning models for offender mental health care and effective case studies of liaison and diversion for vulnerable groups.

The revisiting of Lord Bradley’s recommendations, reforms to health and social care and the criminal justice system (CJS) and the Government’s commitment to improve liaison and diversion services, present new opportunities for effective joint working at a local level. Ensure you are prepared for when the new health commissioning landscape comes into force in April 2013 and to meet the deadline of implementing effective liaison and diversion services at all police custody suites and criminal courts by 2014.

This conference provides up to date guidance on:
• The Bradley Report Revisited Project
• The transferral of commissioning responsibility for health services in police custody to the NHS
• How to form effective partnerships with the new Health and Wellbeing Boards, the NHS Commissioning Board, Clinical Commissioning Groups, Police and Crime Commissioners and local authorities
• Multi-agency liaison and diversion schemes for young people, offenders with dual diagnosis and those in custody

There has never been a more crucial time for you to review your partnerships and services to improve commissioning and achieve better mental health outcomes for people in contact with the CJS, including those at risk of offending and re-offending, as well as victims.
