Multi-Agency Information Sharing

Monday 23rd September 2013 – Central London

About the Event

Capita's National Multi-Agency Information Sharing Conference brings together expert speakers to examine how practitioners can share information securely and efficiently across the public sector. Against a backdrop of the recent publication of the Caldicott2 report outlining recommendations to improve the security of confidential information, the Government's ambition to strengthen local partnerships is clear. Furthermore the development of Multi-Agency Safeguarding Hubs (MASH) aiming to achieve improved risk analysis and outcomes, and the drive towards pooling the resources of public sector agencies through Community Budgets makes now the ideal time to revisit crucial data sharing protocols and practices.

This conference will bring together key public service stakeholders to address challenges including:

- Ensuring compliance with the Data Protection Act
- Implementing recommendations from Caldicott2
- Improving data security whilst creating comprehensive shared networks

Attend this crucial event and hear expert speakers share best practice on developing robust partnerships and improve the ability of your organisation to securely transfer information.

Benefits of Attending

- Examine the data sharing templates outlined in the Caldicott2 report in order to establish best practice
- Take essential advice from a Community Budgets pilot area on how to establish trust and collaboration between agencies and build robust data sharing frameworks
- Hear practical advice from one of London's first MASH projects and learn how to set up an integrated multi-agency information sharing hub
- Learn how interoperability considerations affect information sharing projects
- Understand the circumstances governing when Privacy Impact Assessments are necessary
